Paul,

Ken Bower is a developer of 10 marketed products, processes and services and received six US and over 30 International patents for AT&T, Mead/Uarco JV, Gould Labs. and an Exxon venture company. He has addressed numerous international conferences on his work and was awarded Illinois Young Engineer of the Year. At the USPTO he examined over 800 patent applications with over 400 granted. Ken founded InventScape, llc where he received his Agents License, represented 50 inventors in front of the USPTO and more recently provided patent research for 1400 inventors and patent professionals.

Paul Belezza was Ken's first client as an agent. Whenever asked what the most innovative clients and inventions he has come across in his 40+ year career he mentions three of which Paul and his thermoelectric generator and solar power solutions as the top. Fortunately, Paul's years of hard work, self funding and making something out of nothing have generated several proof of concept models ready for the right match with funding to satisfy the needs of an emerging clean energy society. I'll stack up Paul's technical and innovative skills against the hundred or so Senior Engineers, Scientists and PHD's that I have managed.

Stay Safe, Well, Prosperous and Happy!
